

Abstract of the Disclosure

A software system is useful for generating, from a first page description file having portions wherein each portion includes content, a second page description file. In accordance with the system, a routine is stored in a computer-readable medium and includes a first routine that provides for generation of a template, and a second routine that provides for extraction of data indicative of the elements of the first page description file to generate a database. The data indicative of the elements of the first page description file is then stored in the database. The system further includes a third routine that generates the second page description file from the template and the database.